

OREGON READING ASSOCIATION

Presents:

Creating Engaged and Independent Readers, Writers and Thinkers:

A conference for pre-service and beginning teachers

Saturday, April 14, 2012

at Concordia University in Portland, Oregon

8:15 am - 3:00 pm

Conference Highlights

- Keynote Speaker: Regie Routman, internationally respected teacher and writer
- 12 small group sessions highlighting local literacy experts and teachers who successfully use best practices in the classroom
- Professional and children's books available for purchase

$50 Registration fee for pre-service and beginning teachers includes:

- Conference materials
- Membership in the Oregon Reading Association (ORA)
- Membership in the International Reading Association (IRA)
- A professional journal from IRA

Online pre-registration required: <http://oregonread.org>

- * Lunch on your own or purchase a box lunch for $10.
- * This conference is open to pre-service and beginning teachers (newly certified in the last three years) only until March 1, 2012. Remaining seats will be available for $150.

This conference is supported through donations from Concordia University, Pacific University, and George Fox University

Questions? Please contact Dewayne Smith: smit3125@pacificu.edu

The Oregon Reading Association is an Affiliate of the International Reading Association